In 1898, at the request of President Paul Kruger and, initially to control hunting and protect the diminished number of game in the Eastern Transvaal region, the Sabie Game Reserve was created. The park, as known today, was formed in 1926, by gathering several smaller reserves into the first national park of South-Africa which was given the name of Paul Kruger, opened to the public the same year. Kruger National Park is one of the largest game reserves in Africa. It covers an area of 18,989 square kilometres and extends 350 kilometres from North to South and 60 kilometres from East to West. The five largest animals, gathered under the words "Big Five" (lion, elephant, leopard, rhinoceros and buffalo) are plenty and 147 species of mammals roam freely. 517 species of birds can be seen, 253 of them being resident. The morning safari ends in one of the rest-camps inside the park, were you will be able to stretch, refresh and have lunch (at own expense), before setting off to explore more of the Park. To spot an animal in the Kruger Park needs to be deserved and luck is needed. That being said, the safari is only more thrilling. The 4x4 vehicle will allow you a direct contact with the bush, and who knows, with the help of your experienced ranger, you might get to see one of 1000 leopards of this huge reserve, before heading back to Hazyview in the late afternoon.

These amazing caves are a must-see for locals and visitors alike, carved into the mountains, holding hidden treasures and astounding sights. They are the biggest show cave system in Africa and the oldest tourist attraction in the country. There are three main caves, connected by a series of chambers and tunnels and here you will find a collection of the oldest stalagmite formations on the planet, some dating back as far as 4 500 million years ago. Only the first cave is open to visitors; the other two are kept closed to preserve the pure, crystalline beauty of the dripstone formations. As you descend into the first chamber you will feel the warm humid air and be amazed at its enormity. Van Zyl's Hall is 98m long and filled with illuminated stalagmites, stalactites and helicitites. During your encounter you will have the opportunity of interacting with a variety of ambassador animals and stroke a cheetah or perhaps even cuddle a Bengal tiger cub, if there are cubs available. -Arrival in Sabi Sands Game reserve, the most famous and well-established of the private reserves, home to some of the finest safari lodges in South Africa. The 650 square kilometres wildlife sanctuary forms part of the greater Kruger National Park area. The reserve is the birthplace of sustainable wildlife tourism in Southern Africa, and is the oldest of all the private reserves in the country.

The Sabi Reserve was proclaimed in 1898. The history of today's Sabi Sands Reserve as a formal association dates back to 1948 when the landowners formed the private nature reserve, it is still largely owned and operated by 3rd & 4th generation families who share a common vision with their ancestors. It has only ever been a wilderness area and is home to a vast wildlife population, including The Big Five, and a number of endangered species such as: Wild Dog, Bats, Honey Badgers, Oxpeckers and Ground Hornbill.

Open safari vehicles head out into the wild under the expert guidance of experienced rangers and insightful trackers. You will be able to get in close contact with Africa's most exciting wildlife species, and will be presented with unparalleled photographic opportunities.
Early morning safaris head out as the sun rises and as the bush stirs to life. The ranger and tracker team searches for animals by tracking their spoor, and by listening for the tell-tale signs of activity.

Late afternoon safaris commence as the sun burns its way towards the horizon. The animals are now getting more active, many preparing for the great hunt after dark.

After sundown, the drive continues with the aid of powerful spotlights which reveal the nocturnal species. (Activities included in your package as per program below)
